Council Approves Traffic Schedule For City Streets

Sign Changes Okayed At Many Intersections; Reveal Rights of Way

City Council approved recently the traffic schedules presented by City Manager H. Herbert Holt.

These schedules involve two separate considerations on through streets and through intersections. The natural pattern of traffic in Holland is that the avenues assume the right of way over streets, though the majority of traffic is north and south along the avenues.

A 24-hour traffic count at 12th and College Ave., revealed two and one-half times more traffic on College Ave. than on 12th St., according to the City Manager. Between 9 a.m., Aug. 10, and 9 a.m. Aug. 11, the count was 2,475 cars on College Ave. against 1,031 on 12th St., yet the signing at this intersection requires College to yield right of way to 12th. A similar situation prevails at 12th St. and Maple Ave., where a 24-hour count at this intersection revealed 1,059 vehicles used Maple Ave. Against 729 using 12th St.

For the most part, the present location of stop signs and yield right of way signs at isolated intersections has developed as a result of accidents or the threat of accidents, but no definite pattern is involved.

The indiscriminate use of stop signs at isolated intersections is questionable since it may provoke contempt of the motorist and encourage disobedience. Signs, however, are an important element of enforcement. The cause of accidents at intersections can be established more conclusively if the right of way is indicated.

To this effect, the council in more than one meeting studied and considered the need for discreet use of stop signs and the possible use of yield right of way signs and approved the proposed standards for controlling isolated intersections as follows:

- 1) That yield right of way signs be used to control all isolated intersections where avenues are to have the right of way over streets.
- 2) That no street be given the right of way over an avenue, except for established through streets.

On the basis of these standards, Council approved the following changes:

- 1) Stop signs for Washington at 18th, 20th and 24th Sts. be changed to yield right of way.
- 2) Stop signs for Maple at 10th be changed to yield right of way.
- 3) Stop signs for Central at 26th be changed to yield right of way.
- 4) Stop signs for College at 14th be changed to yield right of way.
- 5) Stop sign on east side of Columbia at Sixth be changed to yield right of way.
- 6) Yield right of way signs for 16th at Cleveland, Harrison and Washington Ave. be changed to stop signs.
- 7) Yield right of way signs for 12th St. at Maple and College Aves. be reversed.
- 8) Yield right of way signs for 24th at Van Raalte and Maple Aves. be reversed.
- 9) Yield right of way signs for 26th at Columbia be reversed.

GRAND HAVEN (Special) —

Two persons were seriously injured in a two-vehicle crash at 12:20 a.m. today on US-31 in Spring Lake township. The crash occurred when a 1954 car struck a panel truck which had stopped on the shoulder for a tire repair.

The panel truck, belonging to the West Michigan Sound Co., was operated by Henry E. Riekels, 21, Muskegon, who had placed a light near the truck to warn motorists. The impact caused the truck to turn over on its right side.

Ottawa Must Furnish 19 For Draft in September

Ottawa County must furnish 19 men for induction into the Army in September, according to quotas announced today by State Selective Service Director Col. Arthur A. Holmes.

Wayne County will provide 374 registrants of the state quota of 712. The Army called for a 14,000-man draft in September, Holmes said, and Michigan's 712-man request is an increase over the 608 registrants slated for August induction.

Holmes said all inductees, except volunteers and delinquents, will be between 22 and 26 years of age, but he expected volunteers from 17 to 26 years of age to fill half of the state's September call.

Cars Damaged In Accident

ZEELAND (Special) — Two cars were damaged Wednesday when they sideswiped on a narrow bridge on Fairview Road south of M-21 and east of Zeeland. There were no injuries.

David Lee Den Ouden, 15, of 231 East Central Ave., Zeeland was driving north on Fairview when his 1954 model car collided with a 1951 model car driven by Mrs. Diana Luce, 20, of 2050 Lakeway, Holland. The Luce car was traveling south and was halfway across the bridge at the time of the collision. Den Ouden's car slid off the road into a ditch.

Mrs. Jason Cook, 23, of 465 West 17th St., Holland was riding with Mrs. Luce and William Den Bester, 52, of route 1, Hamilton, was riding with Den Ouden. Den Bester received a bruise on his right shin, but did not require immediate treatment.

Bud Gysen of the Sheriff's department investigated and cited Den Ouden for driving with an unlicensed person, contrary to the provisions of his restricted permit. Gysen estimated damages to the Luce car at $350 and to the Den Ouden vehicle at $500.

Zeeland Plans Events Aug. 14-15

ZEELAND (Special) — There's going to be a Farmers' Picnic after all.

Chamber of Commerce president Roger Prince and August Kasten, chairman of the Farmers' Picnic steering committee, said today that an event similar to the annual Farmers' Picnic which was cancelled several weeks ago will be held on Aug. 14 and 15.

Planners are awaiting only final arrangements on the location before completing plans.

Erection of the merry-go-round on Main St. was pending official approval of Police Chief Al Boss and Mayor Robert De Bruyn for the blocking of Main St. during the celebration. Boss and De Bruyn said this morning that they favored the idea and would go along with the plans. The main business section of Main St. would probably be blocked off from Tuesday afternoon until Wednesday evening, Boss said.

Only part of the entertainment will be on Main St., Kasten said. Pending also is the use of the park on Central Ave.

On the night of Aug. 14, the 55-piece Knickerbocker band from Grand Rapids is scheduled to present a concert, and a "Dollar A Minute" quiz program patterned after a television show is scheduled for Wednesday.

Kasten said that the celebration has not definitely been called the Farmers' Picnic as yet, but he said that the program would be similar to the usual event.

Court Rules Two Holland Houses Be Dismantled

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Dilapidated buildings on the corner of River Ave. and 13th St. are expected to be torn down soon ending nearly two years of litigation. Circuit Court Judge Raymond L. Smith today filed an opinion that Walter E. Anderson, Muskegon, owner of the buildings, did not comply with a Supreme Court order to board up the structures.

As a result Smith said that the motion of State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs to raze the two buildings should be granted. All that remains now is a legal technicality that such an order be presented to the court.

The opinion is probably the last chapter of the two-year-old case which started when Anderson appealed a Circuit Court order which labeled the buildings fire hazards. The Supreme Court ruled the two buildings were not fire hazards if Anderson boarded up all the windows and other openings within 60 days.

Monday the State of Michigan brought suit against Anderson stating that the two buildings were not boarded up within the period set by the high court.

Defendant claimed that shortly after the June, 1954 Circuit Court trial all the windows and other openings were closed up and if these conditions had changed it was the work of trespassers and vandals.

The opinion said that testimony showed that during the first week in May, 1956, the buildings were in such a condition that entrance could easily have been gained. "The court feels called upon to remark concerning the makeshift means employed to comply with the requirements . . . that no real effort was used to comply."

Cruiser Involved In Minor Crash

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — A police cruiser was one of three cars involved in a rear end collision in the 200 block on Washington St. at 9 p.m. Wednesday. The cruiser, operated by Officer Raymond Mieras, 28, of the city police force, was in the middle. It was hit in the rear by a car driven by Mrs. Emily Coon of Grand Haven and the impact sent the cruiser into the car ahead driven by Jack McCarthy, 19, route 1, Grand Haven. Mrs. Coon was charged with failure to stop in an assured clear distance ahead.

At 11:22 p.m. a prankster backed into the car of Melbourne Heller of Pittsburgh, Pa., near Oval Inn several times before taking off. Witnesses gave officers some expert clues which resulted in the arrest a short time later of Edward George Ladd, 57, Detroit. Arraigned in Municipal Court this morning on a charge of reckless driving, second offense. Ladd paid $75 fine and $5.10 costs.

In other arraignments, Charles C. Webb, 18, route 1, Grand Haven, and Louis Jay Kool, 20, of 335 North De Spelder, Grand Haven, each paid $20 fine and $5.10 costs on charge of drinking beer on a public street. The pair was arrested by city police at 12:37 a.m. today at Third and Madison Sts.

The board adjourned subject to call of the chair.

County Board Clarifies Issue For Election

Farm Bureau Wants To Include Quarters In Allendale Area

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — By a vote of 20 to 2, the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors meeting in special session Tuesday afternoon approved a formal resolution for the special vote on county buildings in the Aug. 7 primary. The action clarified previous action and cleared up possible misunderstanding on a decision to vote one mill for four years to finance a program which includes a court house annex in Grand Haven, a branch building in Holland area, a new county jail in Grand Haven and a juvenile detention home.

Before the resolution was voted, supervisors heard a spokesman of the Ottawa County Farm Bureau again requesting the board to establish an extension department office in Allendale in the belief that farmers would receive far better service from such a centrally located office. The bureau was represented by Hilbert Holleman, Tony Miedema and Art Pickering.

The message from the bureau struck sparks among the supervisors when the concluding paragraphs said that the 1,600 members of the bureau recognizes the dire need for new buildings in the county, but that if the board should reject the request for the move to Allendale the Farm Bureau "may find it necessary to withdraw its support and urge its members to vote against it."

Henry Slaughter of Tallmadge township interpreted this as a threat and said, "I would vote against it for that reason, if for no other reason." John Hassold of Chester township said he didn't like the idea of a group coming in and making a threat after it was voted down.

Harry Harrington of Holland called the board's attention to action taken at the April session when this matter was referred to the agricultural committee with instructions to report back at the October, 1956, session. This committee also was instructed to report on other office space available in a new location in the county and the cost of operation.

Harrington said the matter is still a live issue, which would be decided later in the October session on merits of "what we can best render in the way of service to farmers in the extension service."

George Swart, chairman of the publicity committee to publicize the need for new buildings, said considerable progress has been made in this direction through the Lindeman agency of Holland and George Van Koevoering of Zeeland, chairman of the editors' committee. Swart said the program covers county newspapers, radio stations in Holland and Grand Haven and through the Grand Haven Chamber of Commerce.

James E. Townsend of Holland informed the board that there still are possibilities for a site for the branch building in Holland near the city hall, possibly on River Ave. instead of 12th St. He suggested that Holland's city manager, Herb Hold, be authorized to investigate possibilities and report to the board. The question on what to do with the house which the county had purchased on 12th St. came from Dick Nieuwsma of Park township.

John H. Holleman of Zeeland was introduced as Zeeland's new representative on the board until a new city assessor is appointed in Zeeland.

The board adjourned subject to call of the chair.

Glenn Nieboer Victim of Crash East of Drenthe

28-Year-Old Resident Worked Less Than 24 Hours on His New Job

A Holland man, on his new job less than a day, was killed Tuesday afternoon when a loaded gravel truck he was driving smashed into a tree on 40th Ave., four miles east of Drenthe.

Glenn Nieboer, 28, of 426 Washington Ave., was dead upon arrival at Zeeland Hospital where he was rushed by ambulance after fellow truckers worked for 30 minutes to free him from the wreckage.

Ottawa County deputies said Nieboer was driving his loaded truck south on 40th Ave. when he apparently lost control after hitting ruts in the gravel road.

The truck swerved to the left, went off the road onto the shoulder, and continued for 150 feet before striking a large tree.

The terrific impact broke the heavy duty springs on the front of the truck and pushed the entire front end several feet back.

A few minutes after the accident Ken Elenbaas, 8 1/2 East Central Ave., Zeeland, returning with his empty truck, came upon the scene.

The truck and cab were so jammed Elenbaas was unable to free Nieboer from the vehicle alone. Within 10 minutes several other truckers had arrived and began efforts to free Nieboer who was conscious and talking to his rescuers.

A nearby farmer brought his tractor to the scene. A huge chain was hooked to the box of the wrecked truck and tied to another loaded truck which pulled the box from the crushed cab.

At the same time men using wrecking bars forced the crumpled fenders and doors apart and managed to remove Nieboer.

Deputies said the entire load of gravel the truck was carrying flew over the cab of the truck as it struck the tree.

Nieboer started working for the West Shore Construction Co. Monday afternoon. He previously had been employed by Jesiek Brothers Ship Yards. He was hauling gravel from pits near Drenthe to street construction on Van Raalte Ave. in Holland.

He is survived by his wife, who is expecting a child; four children, Terry, David, Mary Lynn and Patty, all at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nieboer, of Holland; three sisters and two brothers; Mrs. Gilbert (Jean) Boerger, route 6, Mrs. Jerald (Elma) (Geerts) and Mrs. Luther (Delores) Slager, Rev. Earl Nieboer of Allegan and Dale at home.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at Langeland Funeral Home. Rev. Paul E. Rowgo of First Baptist Church will officiate. Burial will be in Pilgrim Home Cemetery.

When operating at full capacity contractors will be able to pave more than 3,000 feet a day.

Saturday for further fishing and found McClellan's empty steel boat with its 18 hp. outboard motor rammed into a tree. Before the boat had run out of gas, the propeller had ripped off several branches from a tree.

Sheriff's officers were notified about midmorning and checked home sources before starting dragging operations at noon. The body was found 50 feet from the east side of the bridge near River Rd. at the mouth of Pottawatomi bayou in 10 feet of water. State police assisted.

Dr. E. H. Beernink, medical examiner, gave drowning as the cause of death.

Safety Director Avery Baker said he was advised of the award by telegrams from the Michigan State Safety Commission in Lansing and from national headquarters in Washington, D. C.

In addition to the counties 53 cities were presented with awards. The citations were based on effective promotional and cooperative efforts in an area and the quality of inspected vehicles.

Outmoded County Jail Crying to Be Replaced

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — A converted padded cell in Ottawa county's outmoded jail is the only private office which Sheriff Gerald Vanderbeek has to work in these days.

Little or nothing has been done to improve or modernize the jail since it was built in 1898 simply because the building does not lend itself to change. Plumbing was introduced in the cell blocks some seven years ago to comply with imperative sanitation measures, but other than that it has not changed or kept up with the times.

For similar health reasons, the basement kitchen was ordered to be abandoned, but this only transferred the cooking of meals to the sheriff's domestic kitchen in his private quarters. It is limited to taking care of not more than 10 meals at a time, which makes quite a problem when there are 20 or 30 inmates.

The small cell which the sheriff uses as an office is a short distance from the jail's entrance hall where all other work such as telephoning, licensing and general office procedures are carried on.

Jails of 19th century vintage are much too antiquated and too far depreciated to do anything about. They just rot away. They are eventually condemned and by court order they are compelled to be replaced. Ottawa county jail has not yet reached that point, but in a letter to the supervisors July 13, 1956, the state inspector of jails, W. H. Nestle, asserts that the jail "is in very poor physical condition and it is only a matter of a short time before we will have to condemn this institution."

Cell blocks and solitary cells can take care of 32 prisoners when the inmates are doubled up. But if there is a woman in the crowd, then the occupancy has to go way down because that single woman has to be given an entire cell block (the second - floor block) for there is no provision in the jail for the segregation of women. Nor is there any provision for the segregation or custodial care of mental cases which can be, and often are, the most difficult of cases to handle.

Some 50 to 60 of these mental cases have to be confined in the county jail annually, pending their transfer to other institutions.

Outer walls of the jail, to which all inmates have access, present no problem at all to the escape-minded prisoner. The old bricks and mortar actually are a standing invitation to break out, as several have done. Outer windows, all accessible to all inmates, and the only means of ventilation, are virtually open to anyone who wishes to pass contraband material through to those confined within.

Other deficiencies include lack of laundry facilities, no space for questioning of suspects and prisoners, no fingerprinting or photography, very limited storage room, and no space for storage of boats and equipment for dragging and traffic control.

Ottawa county voters will have an opportunity to vote Aug. 7 on a new $400,000 jail for this county. The program calls for levying one mill a year for four years on the equalized valuation raising a total of $680,000. The program in addition to the jail provides for a court house annex in Grand Haven, a branch office in Holland and a new detention home.

Bank Employee Found Guilty

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Anna Mae Dryer, 19, of 1004 North Griffin St. Grand Haven, and formerly of 14815 James St., Holland, was found guilty of attempted grand larceny by a Circuit Court jury Friday afternoon. The jury was out for an hour and 45 minutes after a day-long trial.

Bond was continued for Miss Dryer and sentence was deferred until a later date.

She was charged with taking $5,000 from the People's State Bank in Holland March 19. The money was found in the ladies' rest room in the bank shortly after the bank had closed.

Bank President Clarence J. Janning and six other bank employees were called as witnesses for the prosecution and Miss Dryer testified in her own behalf.

Janning testified that he called Miss Dryer immediately after being informed by Connie Nienhuis, a teller, that the money was missing. He said she denied taking the money after he told her it was missing shortly after she had been at Miss Nienhuis' window.

Janning said that he later asked Miss Dryer to submit to a lie detector test, which she did. As a witness, Miss Dryer said that she had not taken the money and had never handled currency.

Janning testified that in her regular job she had not handled currency, but she was charged because she had been at Miss Nienhuis' window about the time the money was missed.

State Park Isn't Place to Ignore Parking, Etc., Signs

Holland State Park Manager Clare Broad emphasized today that illegal parking, entering posted areas, drinking in the park and other capers will not be tolerated.

To back his warning Broad said several recently have been cited to justice court after getting tickets for such violations.

It's not a matter of being "mean" on the part of park rangers, but a safety as well as practical precaution. There are an average of 177 trailers a day at the park and each trailer owner usually has a car. In addition there are some 110 to 115 camping spaces filled each day. With such crowded conditions, it's necessary to keep the remaining space open for such emergencies as fires or injuries where ambulances would have to get into the park.

Broad has instructed his staff to issue tickets to all violators and he "means business."

Among those cited for violations at the state park recently and paying fines and costs in C. C. Wood's Justice Court were:

Hollis B. Howard, Kalamazoo, drinking beer on a public highway, $29.30; Marvin J. Leeuw, 376 North Franklin, Zeeland, drunk and disorderly, $29.30; Gene Van Slooten, Grand Rapids, illegal parking, $3; Viola Housinga, 559 College, illegal parking, $3; Donald J. Kalkman, Grand Rapids, illegal parking, $3.

Eugene Spoelman, Hudsonville, illegal parking, $3; Kathryn Spoelhof, Grand Rapids, illegal parking, $3; Donald Francway, Fennville, parking in no parking zone, $5; Gerrit Koning, Mount Royal, Zeeland, illegal parking, $3; Richard J. Ony, Grand Rapids, illegal parking, $3.

Jack Lehman, Grand Rapids, illegal parking, $3; Harold Van Orman, Jr., 243 South Maple, Zeeland, illegal parking, $3; Dorothy Maat, route 6, entering area posted otherwise, $5.30; Roger P. Gunneman, Hamilton, entering area posted otherwise, $5.30; Roger L. Petstra, route 1, Zeeland, entering area posted otherwise, $5.30.

Orrie Vetting, Grandville, camping without permit, $9.30; James Smith, Grand Rapids, overtime parking of a trailer, $9.30.

Stop Light Due at 17th, Van Raalte

City Manager Herb Holt said Monday a traffic light will be installed soon (before school opens) at the intersection of West 17th St. and Van Raalte Ave.

City Council authorized the installation at its July 18 meeting. Holt said traffic counts show more than 12,000 cars pass the intersection in a 24-hour period, including more than 7,000 on 17th St. and more than 5,000 on Van Raalte.

Thus, 17th St. will be allocated 60 percent of the green light time and Van Raalte 40 percent. The traffic counts also show that peak hour is from 4 to 5 p.m. daily.

Many children also use the intersection while walking to nearby Van Raalte school, Holt said. He points out that the north boundary of Van Raalte is 15th St.

There will be a red flashing arrow for southbound Van Raalte motorists that will allow a stop and right turn onto 17th St. between the hours of 4 and 8 p.m., Holt said.

Police, CD Say Zeeland Alert Was 'Successful'

Mock Blockade Set Up In 11 Minutes; First Aid Called 'Perfect'

ZEELAND (Special) — A mock tornado struck Zeeland Friday night, bringing out co-ordinated police and Civil Defense workers in a practice alert that officials called a "success."

The alert was sounded at 7:10 p.m., and the all clear at 7:15.

Within 11 minutes after the all clear, simulated blockades were set up at 13 entrances to the city. Police Chief Al Boss said that every entrance was manned by at least one auxiliary officer. Regular officers began checking the posts immediately after the all-clear. The post at State and Riley Sts. was found unmanned, but when the inspecting officer arrived, he was able to fill in for the absent guard.

The ambulance corp of privately owned station wagons equipped with stretchers was divided and instructed to report to the two Zeeland funeral homes for further instruction. Within 13 minutes after the all-clear, 32 station wagons had reported and assembled for duty in the municipal parking lot. Civil Defense Director Peter Wölthuis said the "ambulance setup was perfect."

Don Voss of the Sheriff's Department, sent out to clear traffic for the ambulance corps said that regular traffic was very light within the city but that "station wagons were coming from everywhere."

Boss said after the alert that it was a definite success, "but added he felt much had been learned."

"We learned," he said, "that a longer interval is needed between the alert and the all-clear. In case of a real tornado, we would know of its coming at least five or 10 minutes ahead of time, and then would have to give it time to pass over." He said that future tests would probably involve a 15-minute wait between the first warning and the all-clear.

Mayor Robert DeBruyn, who rode with officers checking the blockade stations and then inspected the ambulance corp said:

"There's always room for improvement, but, for our first alert, I'd call this a success."

Following the alert, Paul Johnson, Grand Rapids meteorologist spoke to about 100 persons in the City Hall. He also showed a 20-minute sound film, "Tornado," which showed actual tornadoes and outlined the job of the weather bureau in spotting tornadoes and issuing warnings.

Johnson said that tornadoes are spawned when warm, moist air punches holes in layers of dry, cold air, sending the cold air down in the swirling, funnel clouds so familiar to tornado students.

No one can explain why tornadoes are becoming so frequent in Michigan, he said. But he added that with the radar setup of the weather bureau, and with what knowledge is being gathered about tornadoes, it is hardly possible that a tornado could strike without warning.

Driver Injured As Car Hits Train — (GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Clarence Westbrook, 20, route 1, Coopersville, was injured at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday when his 1951 car struck a Grand Trunk train at a crossing northwest of Marne.

Westbrook was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Grand Rapids, accompanied by Deputy Roelf Bronkema while Deputy Keith Averill continued the investigation. X-rays were to be taken to determine the extent of injuries involving back injuries and possible internal injuries.

Westbrook told officers he did not see the train until too late and swerved his car to the right, bouncing off the second car from the engine. The train engineer was not aware of the crash and the train continued on its way.

Westbrook's car was considerably damaged on the left front and side. He was riding alone, apparently headed for his work.

Judge Takes Case Under Advisement

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Circuit Court Judge Raymond L. Smith laid Monday took the case of State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs against Walter E. Anderson of Muskegon under advisement following three hours of testimony.

The case involves property owned by Anderson at 13th St. and River Ave. in Holland. Anderson allegedly failed to comply with a Supreme Court order handed down March 5, 1956.

The high court ruled that the two dwellings would not be designated fire hazards provided the owner, within 60 days, boarded up windows and other openings.

The ruling was the result of an appeal from a July 28, 1954 Circuit Court ruling which ordered the buildings torn down and all debris removed.

The Supreme Court ruling specified that if the modifications were not complied with, the decree of the lower court would be final.

We kept wondering as we darted up and down just what would happen if the motor died. Finally when we got over on the Island Lake river it happened!

The falls we approached must have been close to 15 feet of vertical height in 150 yards or less. The motor roared as Bernard opened it up and headed into the current. He wove in and around rocks. The Cree in the bow was perched way up high. He signaled easily with paddle, head or a body movement. Occasionally he looked back with a knowing glare at the motorman. To Bill Butler and to me, his signals didn't add up. Only on rare occasions he'd shout a few words of Cree.

As we struck fast water, the rocks flew by. Jets of water plumed off of obviously hidden rocks. You sorta hoped the guides knew

One of Most Thrilling Experiences Of Trip Was Riding River Boats

By Phil Rich and Bill Butler "What was the most thrilling experience in the far north?"

This question has been asked us several times since our return from God's Lake country and Hudson's Bay in Manitoba.

It was riding the river boats — 20 foot freighter canoes with 10-horse outboards attached to their square sterns.

These stable 200-pound boats are managed by experts in navigating boiling white water. One slip and you'd be overboard and wrecked. If you hit a rock when you went overboard it would be curtains. . . . as in that thundering torrent your chances to survive in ice water would be small.

One thing in your favor is that the big, wide canoes have plenty of "give." You can feel it when you hit the big waves. Another thing, the Cree Indians who run them have had a lot of experience in these many rapids. You can see their mistakes in the broken canoe ribs along the sides. They know where the huge rocks are instinctively and can read the flow of the water as easy as you read the evening paper.

Besides all this, you are seated in the bottom of said canoes on "chairs" made of two - by - fours to keep you off the bottom and backs and seats lined with removable cushions. The Indians know just how much speed to use in various parts of the rapids going down or up. They occasionally ship some water, but don't let that bother you. At times you can touch the side of a wave as it's higher than your canoe.

We kept wondering as we darted up and down just what would happen if the motor died. Finally when we got over on the Island Lake river it happened!

The falls we approached must have been close to 15 feet of vertical height in 150 yards or less. The motor roared as Bernard opened it up and headed into the current. He wove in and around rocks. The Cree in the bow was perched way up high. He signaled easily with paddle, head or a body movement. Occasionally he looked back with a knowing glare at the motorman. To Bill Butler and to me, his signals didn't add up. Only on rare occasions he'd shout a few words of Cree.

As we struck fast water, the rocks flew by. Jets of water plumed off of obviously hidden rocks. You sorta hoped the guides knew whether the river was high or low; where the shallow parts were. They did. One spot you ran off toward shore, then into fast water, weaving in and out, across this spot and then almost at the very top and we were slowed by the cascading water . . . for the final lift. The motor DIED!

The Cree up front acted as if he expected it! Bernard, who was our Old Faithful, tipped up the motor to keep the propeller free and was alert with paddle. The man in front let us down those rapids like the captain of an ocean liner. His confidence was superb, his manner unperturbed and his skill perfect. We never touched a thing.

On the next try we made it in good shape and complimented our boatmen on their good work. Whew! (Is it warmer today?)

A couple of times the Cree had us walk around as the load was too heavy. Or the water was too hard to negotiate. But they love their motors and boats. And they know those vast stretches which are dangerously rock-strewn.

Give a Cree an outboard and a freighter and he'll be "testing" it just for fun during his time off.

Many of these nomads of the north have pretty well kept their way of life. Most of them do not understand or speak English. A few can speak it, more can understand it. A lot of them drift around the vast north expanse of wilderness; live off the country; are here today and gone tomorrow. But they do seem happy and carefree. You could almost bet they didn't have any high blood pressure. But maybe their white bosses get that instead.

Midland Doctor Gets His Trophy -- A Six and a Quarter Pound Trout

By Phil Rich and Bill Butler

The river is full of fast water rapids and is about as big as the Tittabawassee or Kalamazoo at Saugatuck. The water is cold, clear and, even in its wide bulges, seems to be hurrying on down to Beaverhill lake. It was a trip of better than three hours to get up it.

The scenery alone was worth the trip. The first cast at the rapids above the lake brought a big trout charging at my one - hook artificial bait. But he wouldn't co-operate. On we went. Winding around bends, up rapids I'd have sworn I'd never try in any boat and so onto smooth lakes formed by the rocky rapids which formed natural dams.

The trees were green, and the rocks higher here. And if anything the water plunged and rolled along much faster.

Fires, however, roared through thousands of acres and we could see it on the shores of Beaverhill. Upon our return the sun was a red ball in the sky as the yellowish plumes formed great thunder-head banks in the heavens. Next day we heard that the tent-camp had been removed just ahead of the roaring blaze. We are glad we saw it green.

After we got miles up stream and Wab and I each had a trout apiece, while Howard and Bill were snagging the big walleyes and northern, came the high point in trout-seeking. Wab's big moment came below a steep and fast moving piece of white water. The big "trophy" struck nearby the boat. After a long battle as the sun lowered it came to net . . . six and a quarter pounds of fighting trout taken here this season. It was a mighty heavy fish as pictures will show. And both he and we and the guides were pleased.

Enough of Fishing

I guess if it was all summed up we have had enough fishing for a while. Also I believe that we all agree that we had about as much fun catching whitefish on a fly as any other type of fishing.

After the thrill of catching walleyes almost as fast as you could cast out; and then the taking of northern until they were a pest; plus lake and speckled trout fishing, you'd think we'd had the best. But this whitefish fishing is terrific. For fishing thrills I like it as well as any.

These streams simply swarm with whitefish. Here at the Kanuchuan rapids they run upriver to the dam. Here they feed and mill around by the hundreds. You can catch them most any time of day or evening with a good small fly. A coxman or something that is being fed upon that night.

In my first experience I caught ten of these delicious fish. We had them to eat and I gave the Indian boys who helped me, some to take home. That same evening I caught eight more. Others were taking them top. Last night we hauled out 16. This afternoon, lacking something else to do and being worn out on other varieties we got "11 more" which when dumped out of a bag turned out to be 16 additional. These we will take home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger D. Kleis

Ferns, candelabra and bouquets of white gladioli decorated the church for the double ring ceremony, read by the Rev. Marvin J. Vanderwerp in the presence of 110 guests. Mrs. Joyce Bultman was organist and Fred Japenga, the bride's uncle, sang "Today Oh Lord" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a chapel-length gown of chantilly lace over bridal satin, fashioned with a portrait neckline above a sculptured bodice cut with long, tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt, worn over hoops, featured a scalloped redingote displaying an insert of accordion-pleated tulle. Her finger-veil of imported illusion fell from a coronet with iridescent sequins and seed pearls. Her single strand of pearls was a gift from the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies and roses.

Miss Judy Van Ry, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Charlotte Kleis, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. They wore identical waltz-length gowns of white embroidered net over orchid taffeta with portrait necklines and cummerbunds with large bows at the back. They wore matching hats and carried colonial bouquets of white daisies and ivy.

The bride's mother chose for the wedding a beige suit dress with navy accessories. The groom's mother wore an aqua dress with white accessories. They had red rose corsages.

Ask Federal Aid To Build Sewers

At a meeting of the Michigan Association of Drain Commissioners at the Warm Friend Tavern Saturday morning a resolution was adopted urging that the federal government, instead of sending taxpayers money to foreign countries, use a portion of such money to help communities pay for storm water, sanitary drain and sewer facilities.

The association held its annual three-day mid-summer meeting in Holland.

The resolution, proposed by Hazen Abbey, Jackson county drain commissioner, points out that there is a growing need for such facilities in the growing sections of Michigan and in many communities cost of such facilities cannot be met in full by home owners.

It further points out that lack of proper drainage creates a health hazard and much property damage.

The resolution specifies that Michigan and other states face this dilemma. It is suggested that the funds be provided under the general welfare provision of the constitution.

A copy of the resolution will be sent to each senator and representative from Michigan by the association secretary, suggesting that Congress enact such a law at its next session.

PUBLIC SERVICE —

WILLIAM BRUSSE

William Brusse adopted Holland, Michigan as his home a great many years ago after his birth in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He was former city treasurer and a one term mayor of the City of Holland from 1900 to 1902. He served the city at the time when we were operating under a different charter than we are today and there is an old saying that still applies to a great many of our elected and appointed city officials, "They work for nothing and board themselves in a great many cases and in some instances receive very little remuneration." Mr. Brusse lived to the ripe old age of 93 years and he will be remembered, no doubt, by a great many people in this community.

Today we have a new city charter that was adopted in 1930. Some sixteen months were spent in studying the charter but there is still some things to be desired in our fast changing world. A great many of these old timers could, no doubt, give some sage advice that would save a great many government agencies money as well as the taxpayers today.

HOW DO THEY DO IT?

Two recent big money deals that were more crooked than a cork-screw have incubated the question in the minds of average citizens, "How did the principals in these two cases get away with it?"

One case was that of the politically explosive revelation of a situation in the office of the state auditor of Illinois; the other was the less recent case of the Virginia spinner and church worker who embezzled more than a million dollars from her employers. The Illinois case also involved about a million of state funds.

The puzzling part of both cases — and of many other cases involving enormous sums — is not the size of the amounts but how anybody could get away with irregularities on so big a scale for so many months or even years.

The ordinary citizen to whom even a hundred dollars is a considerable amount just can't get it through his mind how irregularities running into millions can remain undetected. If plain John Q. Citizen should indulge in financial irregularities involving a mere hundred dollars or so he would expect to be caught before he could so much as bank his swag. And the chances are that he would be correct in this. How can others get away with millions?

There are bank examiners in droves; there are auditors of the accounts of commercial firms; boards of directors of banks and all institutions dealing in money are supposed to focus a sharp eye at all times on what their employees are doing; all along the line checks are imposed that would seem to make fairly quick detection of crookedness certain.

At least so the average honest man thinks. But he overlooks one thing. The very bigness of such amounts is the chief safeguard of the really big-time crook. Those who guard against financial crookedness can understand readily that small deals may be expected, and understanding this they maintain the machinery to prevent it or to expose the small-time crook. But being honest men themselves, auditors and examiners find it hard to imagine an attempt to embezzle a million. The embezzlers invariably are honest — looking and honest — acting individuals. It is hard for anyone to imagine that a Sunday school worker would try to get away with a million in embezzled funds.

So the examiners and auditors let their guard down. The very bigness of the amount lulls them to sleep. In the same way, as dictators well know, people are more likely to believe the big lie than the little one.

Witnessing Through Suffering
I Peter 1:3-9; I Peter 5:6-11
by C. P. Dame
(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.)

Peter wrote two epistles. The first epistle was written about 64 A.D. to Christians who were scattered in various parts of Asia Minor. The Christians experienced many trials and were persecuted and suffered for their faith. It was the purpose of Peter to encourage them to stand fast in the faith.

I. We Christians have a great hope. The early church stressed the death and resurrection of Jesus strongly. It was because Jesus had died and risen again from the dead that salvation had come to pass. Peter reminded these Christians that something had happened to them. God in his mercy had brought them again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. They had experienced the new birth. God had planted a new life into their souls. And therefore they had become heirs and an inheritance, "incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fade not away" was awaiting them in heaven. Peter directed the minds of these persecuted Christians to their spiritual riches. Their inheritance was different from all others in that nothing could destroy it and it was absolutely secure for it was kept by the power of God. We can be sure of this inheritance.

II. The Christian has trials. The Christian has joys—and even in the time of trials there are occasions for joy. Today there are Christians who are persecuted and therefore tested. The troubles and trials of the Christian have a purpose. Just as gold is improved by refining it by fire, so our faith is strengthened by life's trials. Some day the believers will know why the trials came and what they accomplished in life.

To bring praise to Jesus Christ, that was the aim Peter set before the persecuted Christians. Through meeting the trials of life joyously the persecuted Christians would bring glory to their Saviour and Lord to whom they owed their salvation.

III. God cares for his people. Many people show signs of anxiety and are troubled by fears. The words, "Casting all your care upon him for he careth for you" are worth remembering. The more conscious we become of God's care the more humble we will be. Trusting God does not mean that we need not be watchful. "Be sober, be vigilant" are words we still need to hear. The devil is still on the job. He seeks the destruction of all believers. Sometimes the devil goes about like a roaring lion using brute force and violence. There are other times when he goes about as a serpent and at times as an angel of light. Christians have an alert adversary.

A Christian should be steadfast in his faith. The early Christians were called upon to suffer. Today some Christians are persecuted. In their contest with the powers of darkness believers should remember "the God of all grace" who had called them unto glory and who would "perfect, establish, strengthen, settle" them. The glory is eternal, the suffering is but for a while. It is good to close the lesson with the great words: "To him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen."

1. A Christian has been born again.
2. A Christian has a living hope.
3. The best inheritance of all is kept in heaven for believers.
4. It is possible to rejoice in the midst of suffering.
5. The stronger the faith the better the Christian.
6. It takes grace to suffer for the faith.

Luke, the Beloved Physician, and Later Doctors
Luke 1:1-4, Col. 4:14, II Tim. 4:10-11
By Raymond E. Weiss

To the leader: This is the fifth in a series of topics on a Bible character and those who in some particular way were like them in following the Lord Jesus. One of the great truths that can be learned from this topic is that a person does not have to feel called to be a preacher to work for the Lord, but that God needs men and women with various skills and abilities and that all work together to make the Lord Jesus known to men.

Leader's Talk

1. We do not know much about Luke, except that he was used of the Lord.

a. All we know about Luke from the Bible is found in Luke 1:1-4, Acts 1:1, Col. 4:14 (the only place where it is mentioned that he is a physician), II Tim. 4:11, Philim. 24 and the passages in Acts from 16:9 to the end of the book in which the words "we" are used, indicating that Luke was with Paul.

b. He was used of the Lord. (1) He was a co-worker with and an encouragement to the Apostle Paul. He was with Paul when he first was instructed by God to go to Europe (Acts 16:9-10). He evidently was closely related to Paul in considering the leading of the Lord and in following out God's will in this new venture. He stuck with Paul through his hard days and was a great help to him (Acts 16:9-28, Col. 4:14).

(2) He was chosen by God to write two of the books of the Bible—Luke and Acts. Billy Graham, when in Asia, said that he was humbled to be in the presence of the missionaries who were working there. He, the well known, was humbled in the presence of those who were little known because, as a Christian, he saw that these people were great warriors for God. Not many people may ever know us, but God is counting on us to do an important work for Him.

2. Though he was a physician he was greatly concerned about the truth of the Gospel. One temptation that anyone of us can fall into, and many do, is to give first place in our lives to the things that relate to this world. The nobler our profession in the world's eyes, the greater the temptation. We might even be tempted to think that it was more important than telling others about our Saviour. Luke knew that Jesus was more important than anything else and gave first place to making known the sure truth of the Gospel. All our skills and abilities will find their proper place when we put the Lord Jesus first in our life.

Consider the lives of other doctors who like Luke put Jesus first in their lives, for example, Dr. Eileen Boss, AB and elementary certificate; William K. Hinga, MA; Earl H. Jekel, MA; Frances M. Michershuizen, MA and Elmer C. Ribbens, MA.

Other Ottawa County candidates and their degrees include: Donald R. Constant, Grand Haven, MA; Kenneth Heuvelman, Jamestown, BS and elementary certificate; Frances H. Nehr, Marne, BS; Frank D. Colegrove, Nunica, BS and secondary certificate; Mary Beron, BS and elementary certificate and Betty J. Todd, AB and elementary certificate; Jeanne Dyksterhouse, BS and elementary certificate.

Ottawa County Farm News

by Richard Machiele,
County Agricultural Agent

How about a summer seeding of alfalfa? If your seedlings in wheat didn't turn out like you expected, a seeding now will help make sure there's plenty of livestock feed for next year.

Good rains in Ottawa County should be a big help in making summer seedlings.

Try to get the alfalfa in between Aug. 1 and 20 — the sooner the better. You can make a good, firm, seeded in fields that have been summer fallowed of wheat and oat fields that were plowed after harvest.

Have your soil tested before you seed the field. You need a pH of 7 for soil to be sweet enough for alfalfa. If the test shows a need for lime, put it on immediately and disk it in.

Milo B. Tesar of Michigan State University farm crops department says to keep these points in mind when you make your seedling:

First, firm the soil with a cultipacker. New seedlings do poorly on a loose seedbed.

If you want short-term stand, use one of the hardy, northern-grown alfalfa varieties. If you want to leave the seeding for three years or longer, Tessa recommends the Ranger variety.

Follow the soil test recommendations as far as fertilizer is concerned. If you have no soil test, use about 400 pounds per acre of 0-20-20 or its equivalent to be sure of good fertility.

Band seed if possible. If not, broadcast behind the drill.

Always cultipack after seeding in August.

Tesar recommends seeding alfalfa without a companion crop unless the soil is hilly or when bromegrass needs to be sown with the legume. Don't seed more than two pecks of oats per acre if that's the nurse crop you use.

He points out finally that your seedling will produce much better in 1937 if you don't pasture it this year.

If you are going to put in a new lawn this year, there is an Extension Folder—F-211 for you at your County Extension Office. It will help you with grading, drainage, lawn soil, seeding preparation, and grasses for lawns. The date for seeding the lawn is from Aug. 15 to Sept. 1.

A deep-tillage demonstration and application of the air-blast sprayer to field crops will be highlights of the annual Muck Farmers' Field Day, July 31, at the Muck Experimental Farm near Bath.

In the deep-plowing demonstration, a disc-type plow will go down to two feet. This deep plowing is expected to deepen the root zone and improve plant growth. It could also be used in applying lime where there is an acid sub-soil problem.

In another demonstration, an air blast sprayer will be used in field work. This type of sprayer, which has been used successfully for a

Berean Church, Furnace Score Softball Victories

Berean Church of Holland and Holland Furnace won exhibition softball games Saturday night at Van Tongeren Field.

The local church nine defeated Berean Church of Grand Rapids, 5-1, and the Furnace stopped R. E. Barber Fords of the City Softball League, 5-2.

Furnace and Berean Church are two of the five teams tied for first in the 12-team twilight league that plays at the 22nd and 23rd St. diamonds each Tuesday and Thursday evening at 6:30 p.m.

Allen Riemersma pitched a two-hitter in the opener for Berean Church and struck out 16.

The first man up, Don Boren, beat out a bunt but was retired trying to steal second.

Boren later slapped a triple that scored Russ Lords, who had walked, with the only Grand Rapids run.

Bill Spykerman homered in the second with Ned Martin, who had walked, on base to start the local scoring.

Glen Geurink drove in the next two Berean runs in the fifth with a double scoring Riemersma, who was safe on a fielder's choice, and Martin, who was safe on an error.

Reurink tallied the final run, coming home on Spykerman's sacrifice.

Bern Kuipers, Geurink, Spykerman, Leroy Riemersma and Jun Jansen made the local Berean Church hits.

Barber Fords outhit the winners 9-5 but couldn't push home the runs.

The Furnace picked up a single tally in the first as John Tjasma scored on two errors.

Tjasma pounded a single to right in the third inning to drive in Paul Becker, who had singled, and Jun Talsma, who was safe on an error.

Jay Van Wieren tripled in the fifth to bring home Tjasma, who was safe when the catcher dropped a third strike. Talsma, who singled, scored on the catcher's error.

Three singles by Wayne Hop, Jay Hop and Syl Disselkoen scored Wayne Hop with the first Fords run in the third.

Two more singles, these by Jay Hop and Frank Kraai, scored Hop with the other Barber run.

Jay Hop had a perfect night with three for three to lead the nine-hit attack. Wayne Hop, Vern Bloemers, Disselkoen, Kraai and Bob Ebels, with two hits, got the other safeties.

Livonia Couple Sees Local Sights During 10-Day Trip Through States

Touring Michigan as winners of a contest sponsored by the Automobile Club of Michigan are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Taormina of Livonia, who visited places of interest in Holland Thursday.

Particularly interesting to the Taorminas was the display of Dutch copper, pewter and china antiques at the Netherlands Museum. They were intrigued by the Dutch name signs, the Hope College campus and the Holland Harbor.

The trip covering about 1,300 miles in 10 days includes leading tourist and resort and commercial areas in the state. Carl Pavsher of the club's magazine is accompanying the Taorminas.

Taormina is a native of New York state and his wife, Moya, a native of Iowa. The new Michigananders want to see as much of their new home state as possible. They have three small daughters at home in Livonia.

Naturals for the title "Mr. and Mrs. Michigan Travel," the Taorminas both worked at Michigan resorts during their college summer vacations and met at a resort on Lake George. They were married after completing their college education and came to Michigan to live. He is employed as a cost analyst for the Ford Motor Co. at Livonia.

The couple is having a "wonderful time, but anxious to get back to the girls." The tour started July 11 at Lansing.

Before they left Holland, the Taorminas were presented a pair of wooden shoes by W. H. Vande Water, Holland Chamber of Commerce, and Preston Manting, manager of the Holland branch of the AAA.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Poppitz, Jr., matron of honor, sang "Ich Liebe Dich," "At Dawning" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. Rudolph Mattson, who also played traditional wedding music.

Clerk Looking For Democrats

City Clerk Clarence Greengood is really up against it.

He can't find enough Democrats in Holland to staff election precincts for the Aug. 7 primary election.

The need is greatest in the fourth, fifth and sixth wards which will operate two precincts each for the first time in the coming primaries.

Greengood has contacted Democratic leaders for suggestions but the final results have been discouraging. People won't say they're Democrats; they're not interested in serving on an election board, or their employers don't like the idea of taking a day off.

Any Democrat who is interested in this type of work and who has some clerical knowledge is urged to file an application with the city clerk. He'll be grateful. State election laws call for an evenly divided number of Republicans and Democrats as possible on each board.

Zeeland Bowl Scene Of Annual Picnic

The Noordeloes Christian Reformed Church held their annual Sunday school and church picnic at the Zeeland bowl Monday evening. Morris Lokers was in charge of the program.

Democrats Plan Swing of County Next Saturday

Ottawa county Democrats have planned an innovation in political activity to be called "You Tell Us" day.

On Saturday, July 28, the county's delegate and alternate to the national convention, Roy Hierholzer of Grand Haven and Marguerite Clevenger of Spring Lake, will make a swing of the county to learn preferences of local persons for the Democratic nominations for president and Vice President of the United States. The Michigan delegation will back Governor Williams as a favorite son nominee on the first ballot but after that they are uninstructed.

In their party Saturday will be George Clay, Democratic candidate for U. S. representative from the 5th district; Jan Vander Ploeg, candidate for state senator; Malcolm Ferguson, candidate for state representative, and all Democratic candidates for county offices.

The schedule of informal meetings will start at 10 a.m. at the Jay Sullivan home, route 2, Coopersville, gathering with voters of the Marne-Coopersville area. Then the caravan will move to the Gerry Schermer farm, route 3, Zeeland to meet Zeeland area voters at 11:30 a.m.

Holland residents will join the group at a luncheon in Eten House at 1 p.m. At 4 p.m. the tri-city area Democrats will meet at the Charles Misner home at 307 Franklin, Grand Haven. The last stop will be at the Clevenger home at West Spring Lake.

Luncheon arrangements are in charge of the newly organized Young Democrats in Holland with reservations may be made by calling Ernie Johnson, Frank Cherven or Emily Shaffer in Holland. Chairman of the Grand Haven meeting is Dean Misner.

Informality is the keynote of the day with no speeches planned. The emphasis will be on listening what local people have to say and giving them an opportunity to meet their candidates.

Fire Damages Bedroom In Home of C.C. Wood

Fire at 3:50 a.m. Sunday destroyed most of the furnishings in a second-floor bedroom at the C. C. Wood home in Waukazoo. The owner and Mrs. Mrs. Bill Wood and their three children awoke in time to escape to the first floor but dense suffocating smoke prevented them from returning to fight the fire.

Firemen from Park township department No. 2 used masks when they entered the house to fight the fire. Damage was confined to one window frame and some smoke damage to second floor rooms. There was virtually no water damage as firemen used only 25 gallons of water in the form of high pressure fog.

Fire Chief H. Windemuller said the fire was believed to have been caused by a cigarette.

Robert W. Arendsen and his bride, the former Shirley Ann Goorman of Zeeland, have returned from a honeymoon to Washington, D. C., and the New England states, and at present are making their home in Holland.

The couple was married Saturday afternoon, July 14, in Trinity Reformed Church lounge by Dr. J. H. Bruinooge who performed the ceremony before a fireplace decorated with ferns and candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Goorman, 122 West Central Ave., Zeeland, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Arendsen, 110 East 32nd St.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz length gown of white organdy over a pale blue slip fashioned with a square neckline. The three tiered skirt was hand embroidered. Her fingertip veil fell from a matching crown headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of daisies and ivy.

Miss Arlene Goorman, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. Her waltz length gown of melon crystaletta over taffeta featured a square neckline and pleated sash. She wore a matching pleated headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of daisies. Junior bridesmaid was the groom's sister, Kay Lynn Arendsen, who wore a gown identical to the maid of honor's. She carried a bouquet of daisies. Both wore white mitts.

The groom chose his brother, Glenn Arendsen, as best man. Robert Naber and Gene Grotenhuis were ushers and Carl Arendsen, brother of the groom, lit the candles.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Goorman selected a rose lace dress with white accessories and a corsage of rubrum lilies. Mrs. Arendsen wore a periwinkle blue sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of rubrum lilies.

About 100 guests were present at a reception held in Ter Keurst Auditorium. Master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Anton Winterhalder. Miss Marlene Slinke passed the guest book and the Misses Marcia Compagner and Joan Kalkman and Miss Ann Winterhalder. Miss Winterhalder also out and served the cake and Mrs. Robert Naber and Mrs. Gene Grotenhuis poured.

For their wedding trip the bride changed to a cocoa princess style dress and white epaulet hat. She wore a daisy corsage from her bouquet.

The couple plans to move to Houghton in September. The groom is attending Michigan College of Mining and Technology for Civil Engineering.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at the Hub on Friday evening, July 13.

Leroy Brower Fans 18 Men for Hulst In Softball Win

Hulst Brothers continued to creep toward the top and away from the rest of the field with a 4-1 victory over Co. D in City Softball play Tuesday night at Van Tongeren Field.

Hulst Brothers, in second place in the league behind the VFW, now has a 12-5 record.

In the other game, Barber Fords strengthened its lead on fourth place with a 2-0 shutout win over the Moose.

Leroy Brower, pitching for Hulst, went on a strikeout binge and fanned 18 Co. D players. This is the highest number of strikeouts in a seven inning game this season.

Brower, who allowed only one hit, a scratch single by Jay Berens in the seventh, struck out the side in the second, third, fifth and sixth inning.

Hulst Brothers picked up four runs on six hits off Harv Berens. The runs were scored in two-run bunches in the third and sixth innings.

Ron Wetherbee slammed his fourth homer of the year over Gord Grevengeod, who had singled on base, in the third for the first two runs.

Bob Vork repeated the feat in the sixth, slamming the ball over the fence. Wetherbee, who had doubled, scored the other run in the sixth. He moved to third on a wild pitch and scored on a catcher's error.

Wetherbee led the winners with two hits. Vork, Ed Klinge, Grevengeod and Brower all had one hit.

The Moose outthit the Fords but were unable to push the runs across.

Howie Bosch supplied the margin of victory. He poled a homer in the fourth with Doc Overbeck, who had walked, on base to win his game.

The Moose had picked up single hits in the first and second for their other two safeties.

Each time the Moose had base-runners, Bosch bore down and got out of it by getting the batters to fly out.

Ted Bos doubled in the first but was stranded. Gil Vandenberg singled in the third but died after stealing second.

Fred Handweg and Bill Zych combined a single and double in the fifth but Bosch got the side out on short flies.

Matt Numikoski, losing hurler, singled in the fifth and advanced to third on a wild pitch but was stranded. Nobody hit safely in the sixth or seventh.

Vern Bloemers and Jay Fredericks got the other two Fords hits.

IT'S BEEN SIXTY YEARS SINCE OTTAWA COUNTY HAS ASKED FOR ANY NEW BUILDINGS FOR ITS EXPANDING SERVICES

NOW WE HAVE TO DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT BECAUSE THE COUNTY HAS RUN OUT OF NOOKS AND CRANNIES

On Tuesday, August 7, you will have the opportunity to render yourself and your fellow citizens of Ottawa County a real service. You can vote "YES" on the County Proposal to provide some new and essential quarters for its expanding services.

This is the first time in more than a half century that the County has asked for any new buildings. The Board of Supervisors simply has no other choice, for the simple truth is that Ottawa County has run out of nooks and crannies in which to house its growing affairs.

There is no more room in the over-crowded County Building. There is nothing more that can be done with the County Jail; it has reached the point of being beyond repair. The County's Branch Offices at Holland's City Hall must be vacated; new quarters must be provided. Juvenile Detention facilities are non-existent; something must be done about it.

It's a big order, but by no means a burdensome job. And since all these problems must be met, it makes sense to lump them all into one project over a four-year period. The Board of Supervisors would readily appropriate the money for these needs, for all it requires is an extra mill on each dollar of equalized valuation, for four years, but the Law makes it necessary to ask the voters of the County to approve this appropriation.

Part of the money needed is already allocated - approximately $61,000.00 - and it needs only the approval of the voters to make it available for the expansion program.

So, you have two proposals to vote "YES" on at the August 7th Primary Election, — the one that makes the money now on hand legal to use, and the one that calls for an extra One Mill County Tax for four years only. To understand the One Mill amount, think of it as One Dollar per 1,000 of assessed valuation, — certainly a small amount for ALL FOUR of the necessary building projects. The only reason it can be so small is that there will be no interest to pay. This is strictly a pay-as-we-go program; it is not a bond issue involving financing charges.

Ottawa County Supervisors have a record of frugality and conservatism with public funds. They have studied every possible alternative, explored many stop-gap measures, in their efforts to solve these essential problems. They know, more than anyone, that there no longer is any other answer than the one now proposed. Ottawa County simply must put its physical house in order. The unanimous vote of the Supervisors in support of this program is your assurance that the need is genuine and critical, — and that it can no longer be put off to a future day.

HERE'S WHY WE HAVE TO CATCH UP WITH THE TIMES

The Case For A New Annex To The County Building

Back in 1893, when Grover Cleveland sat in the White House and the country was hearing unbelievable tales about its first horseless carriage, Ottawa County built itself a new County Building on the Courthouse Square in Grand Haven. It was a beauty, and it was wonderfully large and commodious. You can see from its spacious lobbies, boulevard-like corridors, massive open stairways, and ceilings higher than a step-ladder's reach, how impressive it must have been to all of Ottawa County's 36,000 citizens.

There was no thought in those days of the offices of the Clerk, Treasurer, and Register of Deeds being as busy as bee hives. Nor did anyone think that the halls, vaults, and cubby holes of the imposing County Building would have to be opened up to such unheard of departments as Health, Education, Agriculture, Welfare, Social Aid, and so forth. They couldn't foresee the heavy work load of the Probate Court, — nor could they anticipate the new service needs of the growing population and changing times. It was a wonderful structure for its times, — but this is 1956, — 63 years later, — with a County population of 80,000, and rising steadily. Something has to give, — and the County Building has run out of capacity to give another inch.

A quick tour of the County Building is enough to show you how necessary it is to obtain more room for the overcrowded departments. The doubling up, and the congestion, with the clatter of typewriters destroying any quiet for conference or conversation, the stumbling over one another's desks, — all contributing to irritation and inefficiency. The citizens of Ottawa County cannot be satisfied with this kind of hodge-podge.

It just makes sense to relieve this situation by erecting a new building that can serve as an annex to the present County Building. The ground is available to build it on, and by so doing the old County Building can be brought back to its usefulness for some years to come. The new unit will be so designed and located as to form the beginning of what can ultimately be a whole new layout, if and when the present County Building outlives its usefulness.

You can have this new — and necessary — facility by voting "YES" on the small tax of One Mill for four years. Every dime of that amount will go into the building program; not a cent will go for interest or financing charges.

The Case For A New County Jail

Our present Ottawa County Jail was built in 1898, and, like the County Building, it was a very fine structure for its day. For many years it was rated well above average, but time and hard use have left their marks upon it, and today it is far below the average standards.

Inspectors find nothing good about the building. The old brick walls are crumbling, and it is far beyond repairing. It is completely obsolete in all respects, and it is "only a matter of a short time before we will have to condemn this institution", in the words of the State Inspector of Jails.

While the physical deterioration of the building is certainly the most urgent reason for rebuilding, there are many other conditions that drag the present Jail far below requirements.

All inmates in the cell block have access to the outside walls which are extremely vulnerable to any escape-minded convict. In addition, the windows in these outside walls are a constant invitation to the inmates for communicating with accomplices and obtaining contraband articles.

The only room the Sheriff has for his office, and for interrogation and consultation quarters, is a converted padded cell. There are no facilities for segregating hardened criminals from youthful first-offenders, or civil prisoners who are temporarily detained for minor offenses. There is no arrangement for segregating female prisoners from the male. There are no accommodations for mental cases, although from fifty to sixty such victims have to be held in the jail every year pending transfer to other institutions.

Sanitary conditions are woefully below par. There is no equipment for sterilizing dishes, clothing and bedding, — no laundry facilities. The kitchen can feed up to ten at a time, but no more.

In view of these intolerable conditions, and inasmuch as official condemnation is a foregone conclusion, it just makes good sense to correct the situation now. A new, modern County Jail to properly take care of up to 70 inmates (jammed full, the present jail holds 32) will be built out of the One Mill for Four Years program.

The Case For A Branch County Building In Holland For Social Welfare

For twenty years the City of Holland has been providing office space for the Ottawa County Welfare Department and its allied services. These offices in the City Hall have been rent-free, indicating the value that the City of Holland has placed upon this service.

Struggling with its own problems of growth and expansion in municipal services, the City of Holland has found it necessary to ask the County to vacate its City Hall quarters. This move has not come any too soon, for the congested conditions of the Welfare offices have been even more critical than those at the County Building.

Since 60% of the Welfare and Social Aid cases are in the southern half of the County, it just makes good sense for these departments to be headquartered in Holland. And it makes even more sense for these services to have their own building, where efficiency can be brought to bear on the increasing functions.

County officers, particularly the Sheriff, Prosecuting Attorney, Probate Judge, have many occasions to be in Holland for the transaction of business, and they have had to shift for themselves in finding places to conduct their affairs. The proposed new building will also provide accommodations for these situations.

There is no room for delay in meeting this problem. The County must have its own quarters in Holland for meeting the needs of this populous area. The cost of this new building is included in the One Mill for Four Years proposal. It will be one of the finest investments the County can make in efficiency and service.

The Case For A Solution To The Juvenile Detention Problem

Ottawa County has never had its own Juvenile Detention Home, and therefore has never had the proper control over its Juvenile cases. It has been "boarding out" these Juveniles in the Kent County Detention Home under circumstances that have been none too good.

In meeting its own Juvenile Detention problems, Kent County has had to serve notice on Ottawa County to look to other ways for accommodating its wayward minors, and for sheltering the children of broken homes. For similar reasons, Muskegon County is in no position to help out Ottawa County in opening up its facilities to our Juveniles.

It is well that Ottawa County face up to this pressing problem, for it is not only a building that is involved, but the whole matter of a Juvenile program. A Juvenile Detention Home is not a jail where minors are committed for their offenses; it is a home for holding these juveniles in security while their cases are treated by the Probate Court. Many of them have committed no offense; they are the hapless victims of family disturbances. They should have care while in the Probate Court's custody, and our own Ottawa County Juvenile Detention Home is the answer.

The One Mill for Four Years will provide adequate facilities for juvenile detention under our own County supervision and control. Let us do the humane and legal thing by voting "YES" to the County's building proposals, so that we can take care of our own wayward and neglected children.
